Champagne and Sparkling Wine

In theory discovered by Benedictine Monk Dom Perignon, popular myths frequently, but erroneously, credit him with the invention of Champagne, which didn't become the dominant style of the Champagne region until mid-19th century. The famous champagne Dom Perignon, the prestige cuvee of Moet et Chandon, is named after him.

Classic claret, benchmark for the world

Pauillac

Only 3,000 acres but home to three of the five 1st growths! , Pauillac wines generally have a lot of body, tannic and acid when they are young; they have an opulent bouquet with aromas of blackcurrant and cedar when they age.

St. Julien

Just a little bit less powerful than Pauillac and rustic than Saint-Estèphe, Saint-Julien wines are very aromatized. They are harmonious and well balanced red wines. Saint-Julien is the right balance between Pauillac and Margaux.

Margaux

Margaux lays on a soil of white graves - a special kind of gravel brought from the mountains by the river. Margaux (also a female name in France) is the quintessence of the terroir and of the winemaker's work. That is probably the reason why the best châteaux produce also the best wines!

St. Emilion

Saint-Emilion is the oldest wine area of the Bordeaux region. The UNESCO organization recognized the great terroir of Saint Emilion and put the site on the World Heritage List . Saint Emilion wines are considered the most robust of the Bordeaux. They are generous, very colored, and reach their maturity quicker than other red Bordeaux.

Pomerol

With 800 ha (less than 2,000 acres) Pomerol is the smallest wine producing area in the Bordeaux region. Actually, Pomerol is more a community where the vineyards are family-shared. A ranking is not warmly welcome. You will not find typical huge Bordeaux chateaux as in the Medoc area. However Pomerol hosts one of the most famous of all: Petrus

Loire

Predominantly white wines are grown here, tempered by the influence of the Loire river. Sauvignon Blanc is the grape of Sancerre and Pouilly Fume and others while Chenin Blanc is utilized to make luscious Savennieres and Vouvray.

California

Chardonnay

The premium white wine grape of California, which also produces the great White Burgundies including Meursault, Pouilly Fuisse and the Montrachets. California Chardonnays are full-bodied, crisp and dry. Added dimension of aging in small oak barrels can increase Chardonnay's complexity.

Pinot Noir

Everyone wants to try their hand with this fickle, 'sideways' grape. Few are winners and many resign in despair! Pinot Noir requires an ideal climate, cool nights and warm days. In Virginia's hot/humid summers it can explode on the vine!

Spain

The country most widely planted with vine stock. However, due to the extreme aridness of the climate, the vines must be planted far apart, therefore reducing the total yield per acre.

Italy

France and Italy will argue eternally about which country produces the most wine. Not in dispute however is consumption: Italy wins belly up! 70 liters per person, per annum, compared with 10 liters for the U.S.A.!

Richard's Picks of Unique-Exotic-Esoteric Wines

A selection of wines often overlooked in the search for what is familiar and known.

White:

1216	Terenzuola Vermentino, Italy	2010	42
Often overlooked in the panoply of Italian wines, Vermentino can be one of the most expressive white wines made in the country. Mostly produced on the island of Sardegna, it also carries across to the island of Corsica where the French call it 'Malvoisie de Corse'. In the Piedmont of Italy it is called 'Favorita' The basil and pine nut aromas of Vermentino taste almost as if the wine was predestined for the pesto for which Liguria is famous. Vermentinos are light and crisp with a tinge of color, sharing many characteristics with the Malvasia grape to which some experts believe Vermentino is related.

1261	Botani Moscatel, Malaga, Spain	2010	39
	A fragrant, luscious, dry Muscat from the island of Malaga off the east coast of Spain. Vibrant flavors of peach and melon all in a dry style. Wine made by Jorge Ordonez, major importer into the U.S. Drink up!
534	Tablas Creek, Esprit de Beaucastel, Paso Robles	2008	84
	Initiated by the Haas family and the owners of Chateau Beaucastel in France, this California outpost specializes in Rhone varietals such as Syrah, Grenache and Mourvedre. The Esprit de Beaucastel Blanc is made of Grenache Blanc and Marsanne mainly and exhibits honey, spice, green apple and anise flavors.
1206	Colome Torrontes, Salta, Argentina	2009	42
	Long known as the 'lost' grape of Argentina, Torrontes has now come into its own as the leading white wine grape of the country. Flavors of peach-pit, orange blossom and citrus predominate in this dry wine.
Red:
302	Pied de Perdrix, Osmin, Comte Tolosan, France	2009	49
	A 'lost' grape variety just recently revived in France, the Pied de Perdrix (Foot of the quail) is thought to be distantly related to the Malbec grape. It is a lush, charming, smooth wine reminiscent of a heavier style Pinot Noir
962	Terre Rouge, Tete-a-Tete, Sierra Hills, California	2008	44
	The wine drinks similar to a Côtes-du-Rhône Villages: sappy, spicy, fabulous flavor, and great texture. Aged for 16 months in François Frères barrels. This is a great California wine value, eminently enjoyable for everyday quaffing.
303	Leo Hillinger Blaufrankisch Leithaberg, Austria	2008	69
	Don't be afraid of the name! It means 'Blue Frank' and is grown throughout middle Europe. Also known as Lemberger it is also grown in Washington state. Blaufränkisch wines have aromas of dark ripe cherries and dark berries, are spicy, have medium tannin levels and sometimes very good acidity. Young wines are deeply fruity and become more velvety, supple and complex with age.
902	Tablas Creek, Esprit de Beaucastel, Paso Robles	2008	139
	See the winery description under white wines. The Esprit Red got 97 points from Robert Parker who described it as "full of raspberry, cassis and incense."
788	Montalbera Ruche Di Castagnole, Italy	2010	59
	Medium red core with a bright red rim. Super fruity aromas of candied cherry, boysenberry, cola and cassis are followed by mocha chocolate and vanilla extract. Very fruit driven, this wine displays dried fruit on the palate as well as tight tannins and high acidity. The interesting aroma and flavor profile make this wine unique and fun to drink.
No #	Alto Moncayo, Campo de Borja, Spain	2007	99
	A perennial staff favorite, the Alto Moncayo is sex in a glass. Intense extracted blackberry flavors combined with hints of chocolate and tar. Made by Australian winemaker Chris Ringland.
